

Sohail Qadir

is the Founder & CEO of INTECH Process Automation Inc., an industrial automation solutions and services provider to the global oil&gas and energy markets since 1991. After completing B.S Electrical Engineering degree from M.I.T he has worked for more than twenty years in the area of industrial instrumentation and control in all roles including electronic product development, applications engineering, project management, and marketing & sales. Under his direction the company has grown into a one hundred fifty person specialist engineering work force operating out of five locations including Houston and Lahore. He is also associated with SENSYS, a company developing and marketing world-class industrial automation & real time data management software products.